Network Management Update

POLICY ADVISORY COUNCIL
TRANSIT TRANSFORMATION ACTION PLAN SUBCOMMITTEE
OCTOBER 24, 2022

Blue Ribbon Laid the Foundation for Shifting Network Management Authority

Blue Ribbon Task Force Problem Statement Sets Out the Challenge

Challenge:

Transit in the Bay Area is not organized to optimize customer-friendly, inter-agency travel.

Root Cause:

Unique policies, procedures, and operating practices for 27 agencies

Effect/Consequence:

Transit ridership and targets associated with Plan Bay Area 2050's vision

Can formalizing cooperation or centralizing some regional accountabilities help deliver better transit for all?

Selecting the Best Structure for Regional Network Management

PURPOSE

- Business case to determine extent of authority and best form.
- Evaluate the benefits, costs, and risks of selected alternatives and present rationale for preferred solution.

ADVISORY GROUP

- Guide and review analysis and recommendations, provide periodic updates to Commission
- Limited Jan '22 – Dec '22 (~12 months)

COMMISSION ACTION

- Select Business Case Consultant
- Final action on Consultant recommendations (Feb 2023)

Changing routes to the same destination

Current Scope

Future Steps

Research:

Review existing studies, project lessons learned, staff interviews, data collection for six Functional Areas.

Findings:

Articulate boundaries between “regional” and “local” activities and relationship to regional outcomes.

Recommendation:

Focus changes to areas with greatest impact and develop a preferred NM framework. Make near term program and process changes within today’s context with path to forward compatibility.

Project Focus: Developing the Operating Model for the Functional Areas

Design the Future Operating Model

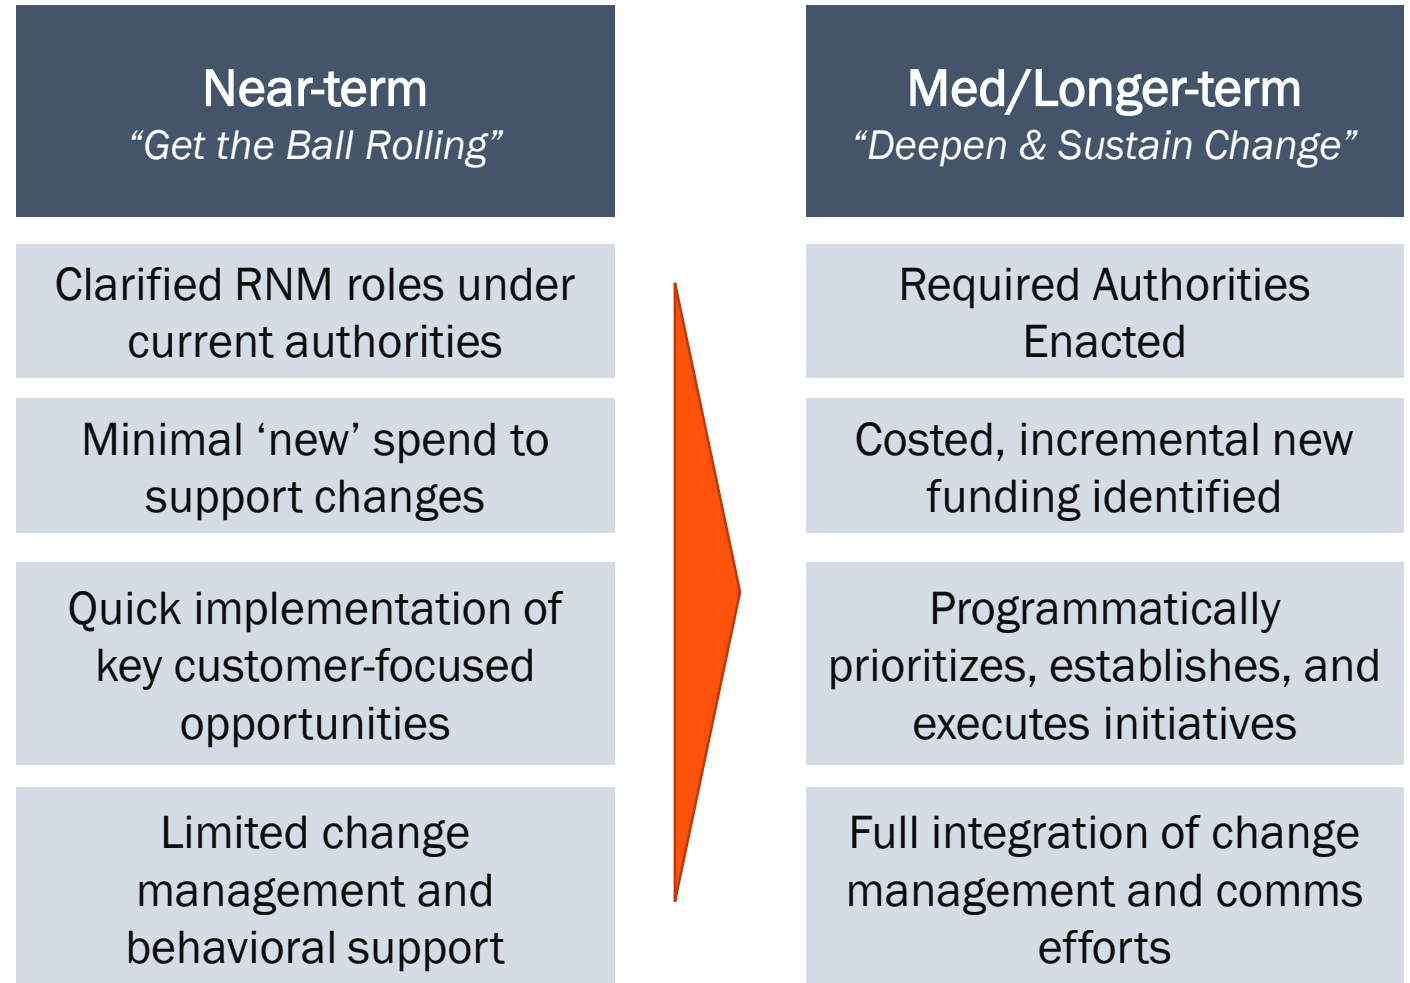

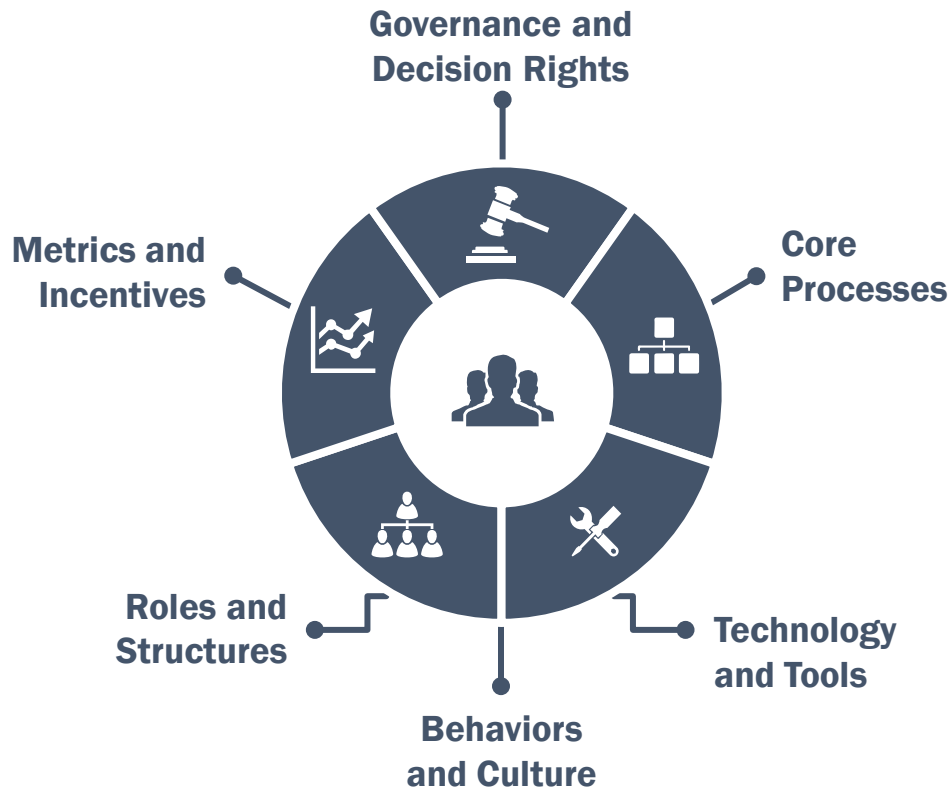

Note: The current project will provide a high-level operating model for each functional area and the collective RNM to enable an initial framework that can be further refined

Operating Model Framework to RNM Framework

For the network to be successful as a whole, creating a new operating model will guide identification of an RNM Framework that can be structured incrementally, evolving over time in response to targeted feedback

End Product: The Regional Network Management Framework

Regionalization Considerations & Categories

Will regionalizing this accountability / responsibility...

1 Improve the customer experience

Such as:

- Reduce travel times
- Improve equity
- Simplify the user interface
- Enhance accessibility

and
/ or

2 Unlock efficiencies

Such as:

- Enable sharing of costs
- Generate economies of scale
- Reduce time spent on coordination activities
- Reduce duplicative efforts / activities

and
/ or

3 Be feasible

Such as:

- Is not cost prohibitive
- Within achievable legal / regulatory limitations
- Agency has path to authority, where required
- Is operationally possible

These considerations build upon the basis for regionalization in Memo #1 by creating three overarching categories; this will inform the allocation of accountabilities and responsibilities between the Operators, MTC, and the RNM

What We Heard: Broad Themes

“Public Transit is Important”

- 87% of Bay Area residents, whether they ride it or not, believe transit is important and that having a good transit system is a public good for everyone

“Make it Equitable”

- Better transit for dependent populations is important, including fair fares for seniors and students
- Although better transit integration benefits everyone, respondents want to assure that improvements to attract new riders aren't at the expense of the transit dependent

“Seamless and Streamlined”

- 89% support a more coordinated public transit system that operates as a seamless, multimodal system
- Residents want: a regional network, real-time transit info, more direct service with fewer transfers, a single mobile app, uniform maps and signage, and consistent fare and payment structures

“Improve the System”

- Bay Area residents weren't satisfied with public transit prior to 2020, and they want a better system
- They want improvements beyond just restored service levels, even though many respondents have been impacted by service reductions
- Expand and modernize the regional rail network

Bay Area Rail Partnerships Study

Subject:

Review draft preliminary findings from the Rail Partnerships study and receive feedback to inform the final study deliverables and potential next steps.

Background:

In December 2021, MTC and regional partners launched the Regional Rail Partnerships Study. This study is a collaborative effort spanning rail operators and other public agencies involved with passenger rail service in the Bay Area.

The objectives of the study are to explore and make recommendations on how agencies can collaborate and coordinate more efficiently and effectively on rail decision making, system organization/operations and project delivery. MTC and its rail partners committed to working together to explore how evolution across these areas can have a positive impact on the rail network – whether that is a better experience for riders, reduction of risk, increased attractiveness to funding partners, or improved value for money. Note that the findings from this study are an input to the Network Management Business Case Evaluation.

Next Steps:

Staff will be at your October 24, 2022 meeting to deliver and discuss this presentation. The Subcommittee's input is requested.

Regional Rail Partnerships: Study Summary

Policy Advisory Council
Transit Transformation Action Plan Subcommittee
October 24, 2022

MTC Rail Partnership Study – Overview and Goals

Study Thematic Areas: Overview

(A) Decision Making (who makes decisions and where do they have authority? )

Today, there are multiple decision makers for different types of passenger rail decisions and different parts of the network.

We explored the potential trade-offs of having a single region-wide 'decision making entity' (existing or new) make key rail road decisions.

(B) Organizing Capabilities (who takes action and who is accountable?)

Today many capabilities are actioned by multiple organizations.

We explored if capabilities (such as planning or delivering service) could be actioned with greater benefit, lower risk, or improved efficiency by a single region-wide organization (existing or new).

(C) Delivery models (how are project delivered and by who?)

Today there are a range of agencies and entities involved in delivering mega-projects.

We explored a range of potential approaches to deliver these projects that could work in combination with the existing model.

Guiding Study Statement – How did we review the thematic areas?

Core context considerations about the ‘existing model’:

Major Expansion

The Bay Area is currently planning and delivering a major expansion of the regional rail network.

Multiple Actors

Today this network has multiple decision makers and multiple agencies accountable for delivering rail projects and service.

Progress to Date

This ‘model’ has enabled the successful delivery of new projects from the 2007 plan and other initiatives.

While this ‘model’ has enabled past expansion and successes, it may not be optimized for future growth. We explored this in four lines of inquiry:

Inquiry 1 – does the existing model with multiple decision makers, planners, and delivery agencies support optimal projects and sustainable services delivered in the most efficient sequence?

Inquiry 2 – as the network becomes increasingly physically integrated, can the existing model ensure seamless customer experience and project delivery?

Inquiry 3 – as the volume of projects proposed for the Bay Area reaches historic levels, does the existing model enable value for money and effective delivery across the region?

Inquiry 4 – similar skills and knowledge are required across the range of proposed projects, can the existing model ensure effective use of labor and innovation?

These inquiries were developed to respond to the unique characteristics of rail – scale of demand, time and cost to deliver new projects, and the range of proposed projects.

Study Area (A): Decision Making

What did the study review?

- We defined 10 types of decisions related to planning and providing passenger rail
- This analysis looked at ‘who makes the decision’ (separate from who carries it out).

We defined three approaches to decision making that define ‘who makes decisions’:

All decisions made by individual agencies

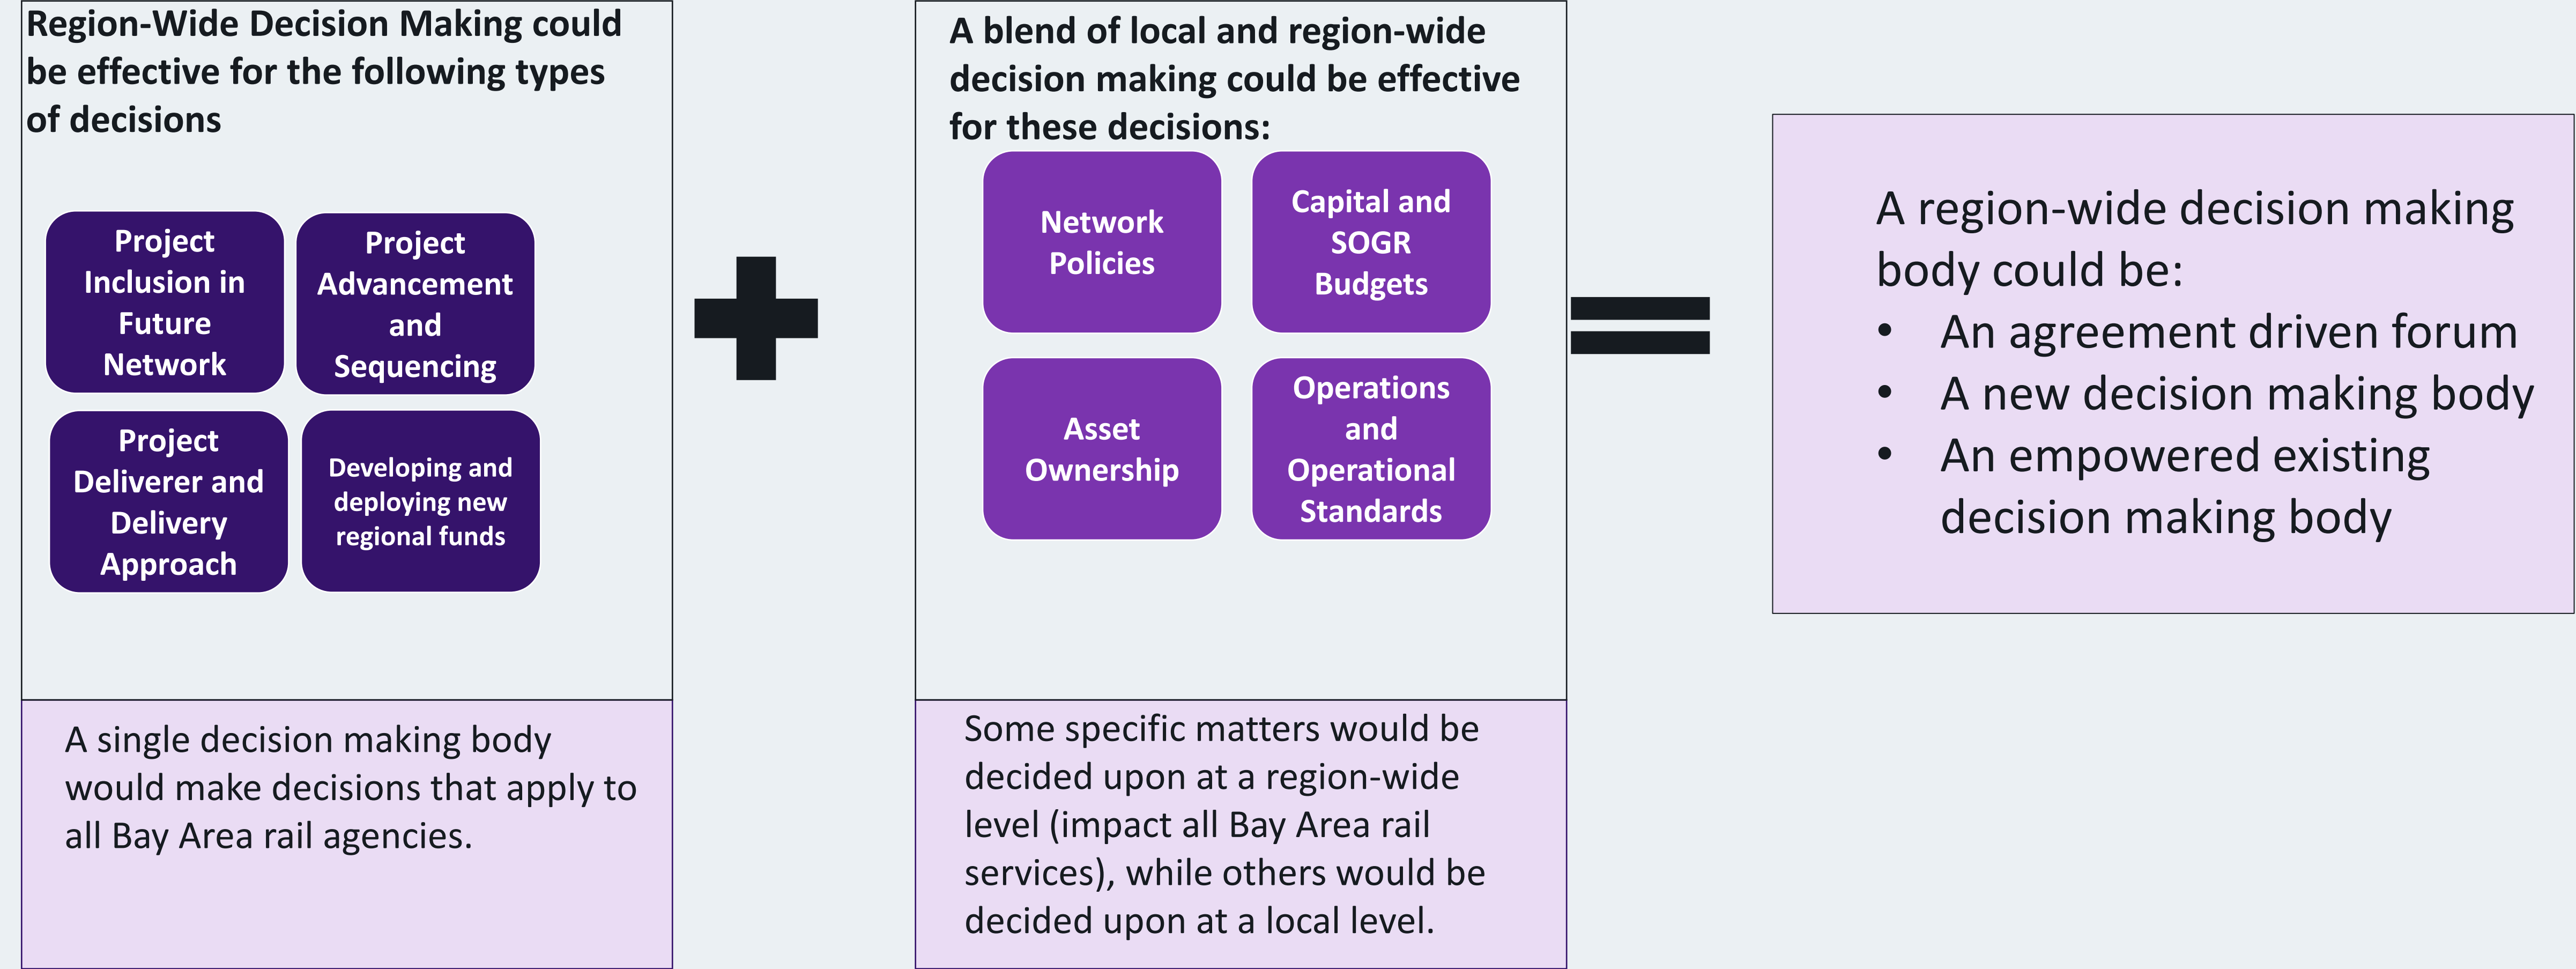

All decisions made by a single decision-making entity

What did we find?

There are potential benefits to shifting four types of decisions to a region-wide level. Other decisions may benefit from being shared (5) or made at a local agency level (1).

Decision	Decision Making Today	Potential Decision Making Approach
Project Inclusion in Future Network	Shared	Region-wide
Project Advancement and Sequencing	Shared	Region-wide
Developing new funds for regional projects and programs	Shared	Region-wide
Project Deliverer and Delivery Approach	Agency	Region-wide
Network Policies	Shared	Shared
Capital Budgets	Shared	Shared
State of Good Repair Budgets	Shared	Shared
Asset Ownership	Agency	Shared
Operations and Operational Standards	Agency	Shared
Operations & Maintenance Budgets	Agency	Agency

Study Area A: Findings for Further Discussion and Consideration

Study Area (B): Organizing Capabilities

What did the study review?

We explored if there are capabilities that would benefit from being organized at a region-wide scale (actions led at a regional scale) vs. an agency scale.

What did we find?
Capabilities associated with planning and decision making have the highest potential benefits from being 'regionalized'.

'Regionalized' capabilities are led/managed by a single agency across the region.

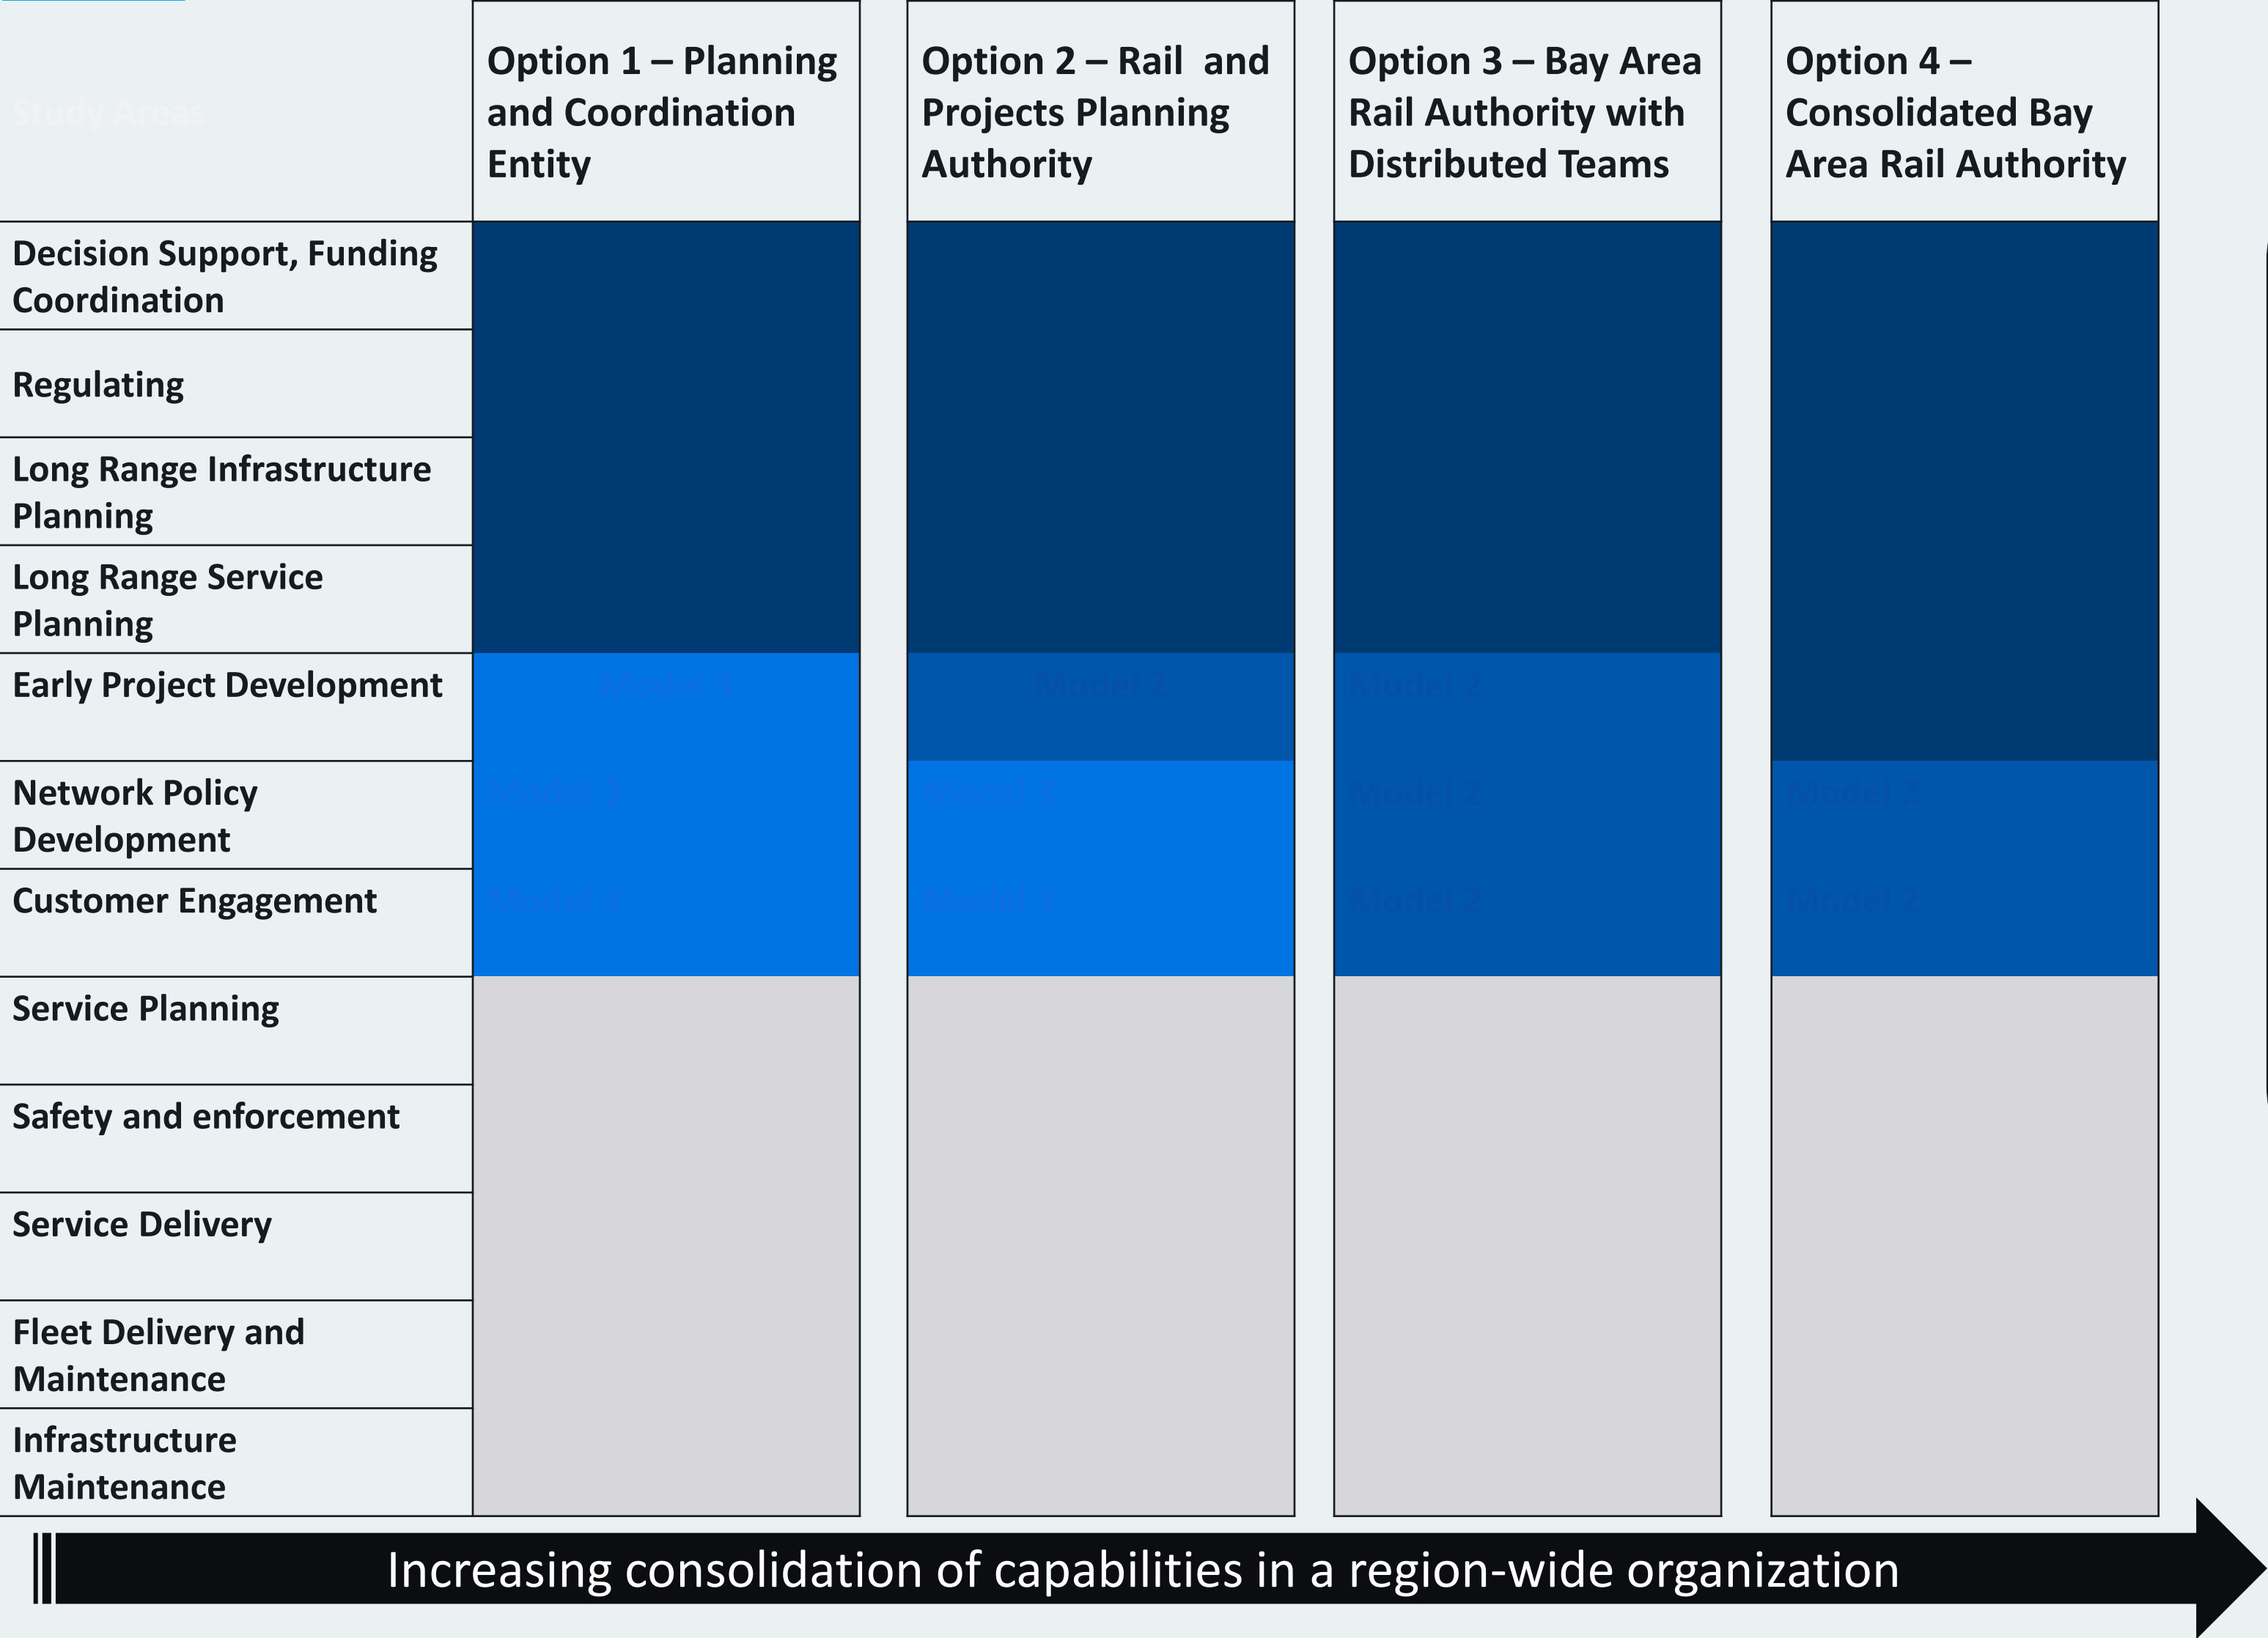

Level of potential benefit from 'region-wide organization'

Higher potential benefits

Moderate potential benefits

Lower potential benefits

Study Area (B): Options to Organize Capabilities on a Region-Wide Scale (contd)

Each option defines a single regional entity that leads across the capabilities in blue. The entity uses one or more of the following models to manage capabilities:

Model 1: Regional entity leads and actions capability

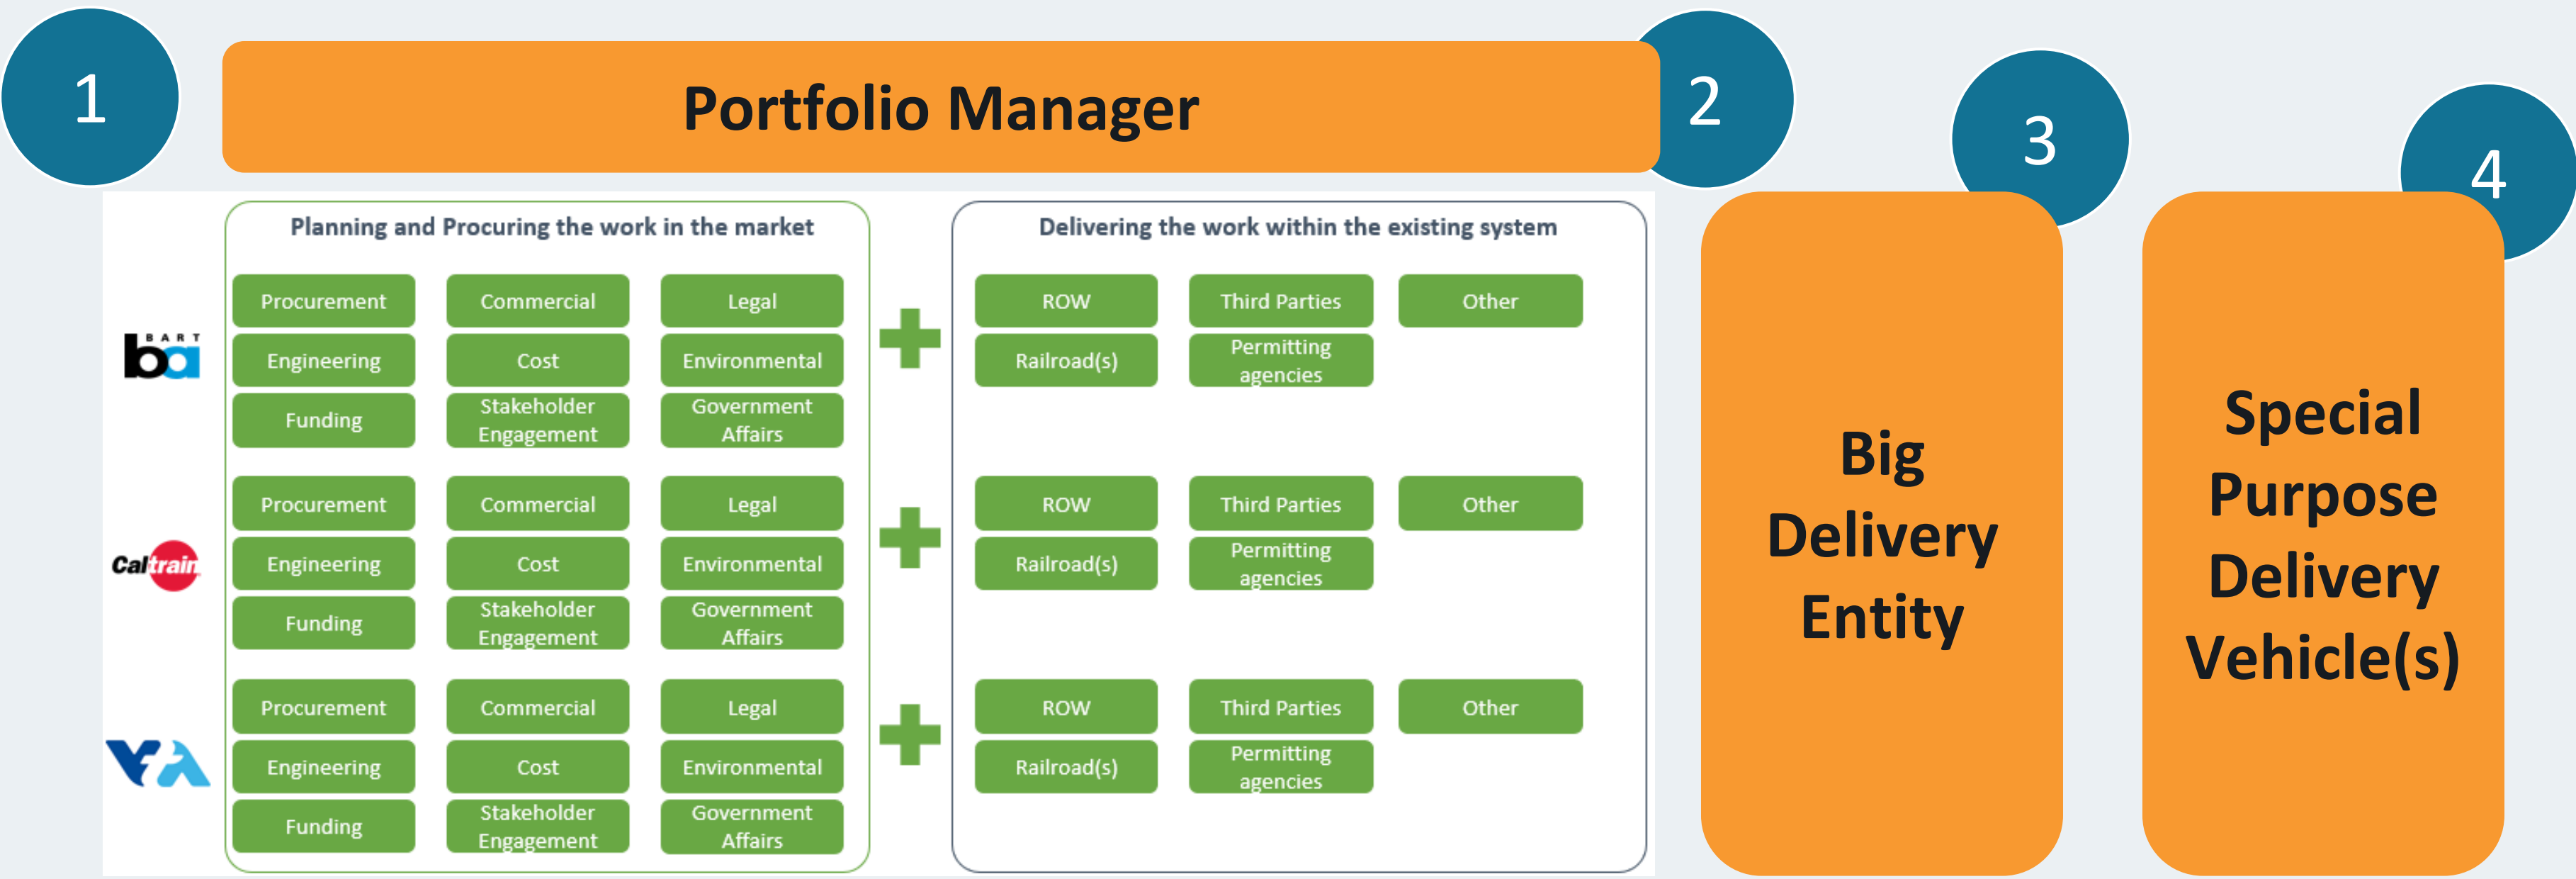

Model 2: Regional entity leads these capability and actions them with other agencies

Model 3: Regional entity guides collaboration among many agencies for these capabilities

Model 4: Capabilities in grey, continue to have multiple agencies lead and action them without leadership of a single regional entity.

Study Area (C): Delivery Models

We identified four exploratory models that represent the spectrum of how projects could be delivered, and regional benefits and risks could be managed.

What did we find?
Combinations of these delivery models are normal in other reference jurisdictions and appear to have value.

Combinations, exist, or have existed, here in the Bay.

This is because unique project eco-systems require different approaches.

Key Take Away

The choice of delivery model needs to be informed by understanding the project within a regional portfolio, not in isolation. The lack of a ‘whole portfolio view’ in the current model is suboptimal from a delivery perspective.

Implementing Change – Phases and Pilots

Phased Approach

Short Term

Deploy region-wide decision making and organizations at a focused 5-county scale

Longer Term

Expand to cover whole Bay Area (or wider area) over time

In the short and longer term, MTC can consider future studies and short-term pilots to build momentum, capture lessons learned, and deliver change.

Factors to Consider When Exploring What to Phase and Where

Physical integration

Share of proposed capital programming

Level of ridership that could benefit from the change

Cost and organizational challenges and opportunities

Number of customers who make use of multiple railways

Next Steps

Next Steps Beyond this Study

1. Pilot region-wide decision making (what works, what does not? )
2. Future Studies
  - Explore the options further and characterize and estimate their incremental costs and gains
  - Conduct detailed costing, benefits analysis, and phasing planning appropriate for the degree of complexity involved in any changes

Connected Network Planning Update

Subject:

Update on upcoming meetings and next steps on connected network planning, consistent with Transit Transformation Action Plan Action #18.

Background:

Transit Transformation Action Plan Action #18 calls for MTC and transit operators to “fund, develop and adopt a Bay Area Connected Network Plan that includes transit service hub categories, core service networks (such as Rapid Transit), funding requirements and next steps.” MTC staff has been working with transit operator staff for the past several months on outlining an initial draft scope and schedule, project management approach, and staffing and funding needs. Although proposed legislation to establish requirements on the scope and timing for the Connected Network Plan did not advance this past year [Senate Bill 917 (Becker)], staff has continued to explore ways to advance connected network planning in a timely and effective manner. With the upcoming kickoff of the next update to Plan Bay Area (known as Plan Bay Area 2050+) in mid-2023, this has included looking at potential synergies between these regional planning efforts.

Upcoming Meetings and Actions:

Staff will present an initial proposal for coordinating connected network planning with Plan Bay Area 2050+ at various committee meetings in November and December, including the November 9, 2022 Policy Advisory Council meeting. Staff will return to this Subcommittee at its mid-November meeting for an in-depth discussion of this proposal, which will include further details on scope, schedule, staffing, and budget.
