Additional Key Findings

Potential customers are a smaller group than expected

- Regular I-880 drivers with express lane use-cases (e.g., in a rush)
- Willing to spend money instead of using free adjacent lane
- Willing to get and manage a FasTrak account

FasTrak could be a barrier for the potential customer base

- A third of approved applicants did not take final step to enroll & link FasTrak
- Possible concerns over account management

Preliminary evidence that program may help reduce violation rate

- For participants who had FasTrak before the pilot, 22% fewer incurred I-880 express lane violations in the pilot year than in the prior year

Have we met the pilot goals?

INCREASED ACCESS?

- Yes, for those who joined
- Yes, program design lowers the bar to express lane entry for targeted group
- No, for low-income households broadly

GOOD EXPERIENCE?

- Yes, participants found program valuable and easy to use
- No, two-step process & FasTrak account concerns contribute to low enrollment
- Yes, program enrollment decreased the rate of customer violations

OPERATIONAL INTEGRITY?

- Mixed, operating costs are falling but cost to provide benefit will remain higher than the benefit for the next year and likely beyond
- Yes, traffic operations were not negatively affected

  - Change is timely → toll ordinance amendment process begins in March

Recommendations to Develop: Expand to Other BAIFA Corridors

- Expand Pilot to I-80 Solano
  - Tolling, including weekend hours, begins in Fall 2025
  - Pilot eases transition for eligible households
  - Adding corridors makes the program more attractive to users
  - Helps validate whether experience on I-880 is typical
- Collaborate with partner express lane operators on potential future pilot expansions, which could include I-680
